WHO Benefits?

This year the Giving Gala will benefit the youth programs of SHIM, South Hills Interfaith Movement. SHIM's youth programs offer a scope of vital educational services to children ages 3 through 18. The majority of children are from foreign-born families, many of whom are refugees resettled in the US. SHIM also assists these families with basic needs programming, including food pantries, clothing, and utility assistance. SHIM's youth programs serve 300 students and the food pantries serve more than 850 children monthly.

The Early Childhood Program promotes language skills among foreign-born children, lessening the burden of language services needed later in school.

The After School program provides homework help to vulnerable students, whose foreign-born parents are unable to offer necessary supports.

Youth Mentoring provides further nurturing to encourage students to graduate and explore higher education opportunities, along with clubs to encourage physical exercise and creative thinking.
